

Faculty of Allied Health Sciences felicitated by the Society for Medical Laboratory Sciences on the World Medical Laboratory Sciences Day

The Society for Medical Laboratory sciences commemorate the world medical Laboratory Day on the 27th April 2016 at the Mount Lavinia Grand Hotel in the presence of his Excellency the president and the Hon. Minister of Health. Contributions rendered by Several Institutions and senior scientists including the Faculty of Allied Health Sciences for the development of Medical laboratory sector have been recognized and felicitated at this ceremony.

professor Chula Goonasekera, the founder dean of the faculty was among them, quoted "A colossal amount of work done by many people go into achieve a few minutes of glory. A recent award by MLS society received by the faculty of AHS via His Excellency the President reflects the selfless contribution made by you, the Senate members, for humanity, over 10 years ago. I take this opportunity to formally thank you all once again for your extra-ordinary contribution and also acknowledge that of many others within and outside the university. You all made Sri Lanka concur a milestone and transform health care towards 21st Century"

