

One Health Poultry Hub - Sri Lanka – New Recruitments

One Health poultry Hub, a project to achieve sustainable global intensification of chicken meat and egg production whilst reducing risks to human health in Sri Lanka. Same project is running in India, Bangladesh and Vietnam at the same time frame. Visit <https://www.onehealthpoultry.org> for further information.

Advertisement

SN	Post	Qualifications and other requirements
1.	Project Manager	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• A bachelor's degree from a recognized university• Excellent interpersonal skills and good command in English and ICT skills• Proficiency in financial handling and maintaining accounts• Be able to work harmoniously with project team including international partners• Good organizational and management skills• Previous experience in working in National/ International projects will be an added qualification• Depending on the necessity , it is expected to work after hours and/or public holidays, weekends and travel long distances The salary will be Rs. 80,000- 100,000 per month based on the qualifications and the performance.
2.	Project Assistant	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• GCE A/L in commerce stream with minimum of three simple passes• Minimum of C pass for English language in GCE O/L• Good command in ICT• Good organizing and management skills• Preference will be given for those who have experience in working in national/international level projects (minimum of one year experience is desirable)• Depending on the requirements of the project activities, it is expected to work after hours, public holidays & weekends, and travel long distances The salary will be Rs. 40,000- 50,000 per month based on performance

Terms and Conditions

1. The project duration will be 22 months from 1st June 2022.
2. The appointment will initially be for six months and will be extended according to the requirement and performance

Please email your CV with a covering letter to ohphsl2020@gmail.com

Closing date: 10.06.2022

Interviews will be held in third week of June